

THE CLINTON ADVERTISER.

Keep Posted
If you take advantage of the unprecedented offer of this paper and New York Tribune you can keep posted.

If You Desire
To reach all the people in the Town of Kirkland, patronize
The Advertiser's advertising columns.

VOL. I. NO. 47.

CLINTON, N. Y., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1900.

Two Cents per Copy.

Clinton
Canning Company's NEW GOODS,
THIS YEAR'S PACK.

Peas,
Corn,
Tomatoes,
Beets, Etc.

GOODS ARE RIGHT,
PRICES ARE RIGHT.

ROOT BROTHERS.

MEAT MARKET

Next to Postoffice
Supplies best cuts of

Beef, Veal, Pork,
Lamb, Mutton,
Ham, Sausage.

Poultry and Fresh Fish
in their Seasons

CAREFUL SERVICE,
Everything at Lowest Market Prices,
PROMPT DELIVERY.

LADIES' Long Sleeved
Ribbed VESTS for Fall
Wear.

OUTING CLOTHS,
White Cotton Cloth and Unbleached Sheeting.

Full Line of Children's HEAVY HOSE
for School Wear.

Call and Inspect Fall Goods
Before Buying.

Mrs. M. T. Cummings
"THE CORNER STORE."

If you Desire to Play Golf

You naturally go to the golf links, and if you wish a first-class job of painting or paperhanging you should go to the little paint shop at the North end of the Park and consult

FRANK R. DURKEE,
Practical Painter and Paperhanger

MADE TO ORDER, AND Repairing
Neatly Done

JULIUS ROSLOSKE

HAMILTON COLLEGE.

Hamilton Defeats Colgate in an Uninteresting Game—Notes of Interest.

The varsity met Colgate on the gridiron on Saturday afternoon last and the largest number of spectators seen at a game for some time were disgusted with the exhibition put up by Colgate for it could hardly be called football, as it was evident from the start that their one object was to keep the score down, and to do it they had time taken out for pretended injuries after nearly every play. In the first place they were late in arriving and it was nearly four o'clock before play was called and as a result the second half could not be finished, although an effort was made to play by moonlight. Colgate gained what they wanted, although in an unsportsmanlike manner and yet according to football tactics, as the score was 11 to 0 in favor of Hamilton.

Hamilton was not up to her usual form and played anything but the snappy kind of a game which she put up against Williams. Overconfidence came very near being the cause of their downfall. That Colgate knew Hamilton's signals was evident from the plays, and they used the knowledge to advantage. The close call of a week ago has braced the team and a far better game can be looked for this afternoon when they line up against Trinity. The game will be a hard one and Hamilton will have to play to win.

Prof. Duncan O. Leo, class of '91, now of Cornell University, has been doing a good deal of stumping in this state under the direction of the Democratic state committee. On Wednesday he spoke in Watertown, and has been heard in other northern cities. Prof. Leo is an eloquent and most acceptable public speaker. He will be remembered as the one who raised such a furor at the state convention in offering the anti-trust resolution.

A meeting of the Advisory Board was held on Wednesday evening at which time nominations for officers for the year were made.

William E. Mott, class of '88, sailed from New York the past week for Paris. Mr. Mott will spend several months abroad in study.

A number of the underclassmen were out on a hallowe'en expedition on Wednesday night.

Grange Fair a Success.

The members of Clinton Grange held a fair and sale at their rooms in the Blake block on Thursday afternoon and evening. There was a large attendance and the affair was a most pleasant one. One room was given to the display of the exhibits, which were most praiseworthy as they showed some excellent specimens of products. The display of apples was especially good and it was a hard task for the judges to make the awards for the best apples as well as for many of the other products. The large room was devoted to the display of fancy and household articles attractively arranged on tables. Refreshments were served at a nominal fee to all desiring and the fair netted the Grange about $50. At 8 o'clock E. P. Powell was introduced by A. P. Armstrong, and he gave an interesting and instructive talk for twenty minutes. He spoke of how the Grange had started out in the right direction and were going back to the old idea of town affairs and how the town originated and then became the district. He prophesied that in twenty-five years we would again have the town church and that the town fair would be a memorable event each year as it should be. He advocated the having of a home week when we could invite those who had wandered away from the place of their birth, to return and renew the friendships of earlier days. He spoke of the help problem and thought that one of the solutions was for the Grange to make a study of the Postal Savings Bank and then strive to have one established, and so teach their help to become small capitalists. One of the important problems for success on the farm is the study of economy. In the evening a social time was enjoyed and an auction of the articles not disposed of at the sale was held.

Pure Water.

Water can hold in solution only a certain amount of solid. If it is already loaded when it enters the system its solvent power is necessarily impaired and the system does not receive the cleansing and washing so necessary to good health. If it is charged with impurities they must be eliminated or be productive of disease.

Distilled water is entirely free from any disturbing elements. It is chemically pure, and pure water is a powerful solvent of impurities. Water can be made pure with a Ralston Still.

For sale at H. J. Allen's.

Matrimonial.

Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock at the home of the bride's brother, William E. Crossman, on College Hill, occurred the marriage of Miss Lucy A. Crossman to Oakland Hoyt, of Ilion. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Charles Ayer, pastor of the Baptist Church.

Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock, at St. Mary's Church, occurred the marriage of Marcella B. Quinn, eldest daughter of Thomas Quinn of Kirkland, and Daniel H. Pryor. The bride wore a becoming toilet of white brilliants trimmed with lace and silk, and carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She wore a veil of white silk mull. The maid of honor, Miss Lillian E. Pryor, wore white dotted swiss and black velvet picture hat, and carried pink roses. John Quinn acted as best man and Andrew Maloney and Thomas Nolan of Clark Mills, as ushers. Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's father, only the immediate friends and relatives being present. Mr. and Mrs. Pryor were the recipients of many beautiful and costly presents, among which were cut glass, china, silverware, linen, furniture and money. After a short trip Mr. and Mrs. Pryor will be at home to their friends in Clark Mills.

Dr. Taylor Replies.

Rev. James H. Taylor contributed the following to the Utica Press in reply to an article published by E. P. Powell:

You have not asked me, as you did Mr. Powell, to give my views on the present political situation, but will you listen to a volunteer word in reply to Mr. Powell? He and I are friends of 40 years' standing. We studied theology together, and still study together. I trust, in an honest search after truth. I have read carefully through his eleven heads of thought, with a twelfth as inference, and want to so reply to the first and last as not to mar the friendship which is our mutual pleasure. He calls our work in the Philippines at "first a blunder, and now a crime." "A blunder!" But how and whose? I am sure his philanthropic spirit justified our espousal of Cuba's cause. But that necessarily and actually declared war against Spain. The government at Washington ordered Dewey to find and destroy the Spanish fleet in the Pacific. Was it a blunder in Dewey to obey orders? That fleet, undisturbed, was a menace to our whole Pacific coast. Was it a blunder in the powers at Washington, having declared war, to proceed on a war basis with such an instrument of destruction in the enemy's hands? Faulty premises necessitate faulty conclusions, so I pass in silence all the remaining heads as vitiated and nugatory. His last point, a corollary from all the others, is, "I shall vote for Bryan because I believe in his honesty, purity and manhood." So I, too, believe, but I do not believe in the breadth of his statesmanship or the soundness of his judgment. No matter about 18 to 1, or trusts, or the fiction called imperialism; but we do want as our executive at the head of the nation a man whose judgment is too sound to encourage those who think it is their duty to pick at the very foundations of our government, by threatening to change our Supreme Court into an elective body in the hands of the people, thus destroying the only fixity in our government machinery, and of too broad statesmanship to think it true patriotism to strive to array the poor against the rich—the wage-earner against the wage-payer. Comprehensive statesmanship will find some wiser way to address remedy to disease. So I shall not vote for Mr. Bryan, but shall vote, as many times as the law allows, for the one who has proven himself, in actual service of the country, to be of sound judgment and broad statesmanship; who, when Congress has declared war, does not blunder by refraining to give warlike orders, or to accept necessary consequences.

Take Notice.

In pursuance of a resolution of the Town Board of the Town of Kirkland, all persons having claims against said town are hereby requested to present the same with the proper vouchers attached, to any member of the Town Board, or to leave the same with the undersigned or at the office of E. S. Williams, on or before the 8th day of November, 1900.

Dated, October 28, 1900.

PETER MCCABE, Town Clerk.

Star Pointer

Is not as large a horse as "Governor Flower." The National Life Insurance Company is not as large as the largest, but it gives bigger results for your money than any other insurance company in the world.

J. H. BROWN, Agent,
Mills Block, Clinton, N. Y.

Beauty is Blood Deep.

Clean blood means a clear skin. No beauty without it. Cascares, Candy Cathartic clean your blood and keep it clean, by stirring up the lazy liver and driving all the poisons from the body. Begin today to banish pimples, boils, blotches, blackheads, and that sickly bilious complexion by taking Cascares.—Beauty for ten cents. All drug stores, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

Speeches by Prominent Campaign Orators.—Newsy Items.

No less a personage than the celebrated after dinner speaker, Senator Channey M. Depew, was in Clinton, on Tuesday for about 40 minutes. Senator Depew and party arrived on their special train, consisting of four coaches at 4:40. The Hamilton College Sherman and Calder club and the McKinley and Roosevelt club formed a line through which the Senator and party passed from the car to the platform erected just south of the station, while the college yell was given by the students with a will, and the Senator acknowledged the compliment by repeatedly lifting his hat. Upon the platform were the gentlemen who acted as the reception committee consisting of: H. W. Roberts, L. M. Martin, H. E. Allen, S. W. Raymond, F. E. Payne, C. T. Ives, Prof. A. G. Benedict, J. W. VanAllen and others. Mr. Depew was introduced by Mr. Martin. He spoke of his former visit to Clinton, and said in brief: "It is 80 years ago," he said, "since I have visited your village. At that time I made an address at a Psi Upsilon convention, the fraternity which I am honored with membership, and I suppose there are some Psi U boys here today, for you always find them in a good crowd like this. Not only because it recalls pleasant memories am I glad to be here, but also because I like to bring to intelligent men the issues of a campaign where so much for good or evil is at stake. All day I have been having just a lovely time, speaking here and there, in this valley and on that hill, to my fellow citizens and constituents of this state, because I love to talk where every man is accorded a respectful hearing and this you usually get in the Empire State. It was the exception at Elmira and Cobleskill, where Governor Roosevelt and I were mobbed."

He then spoke of the old time Democracy, and how Bryan had evaded questions concerning the payment of the national debt in gold or silver. He spoke at length upon the Philippine question and said in abstract: "When, led by our noble minded and clear-headed executive, the American people turned its armies and its fleet toward Cuba, to drive out the Spaniards, to expel from our coast its pollution, we declared to the world that we would not annex an inch of its soil. Under the wise government of General Wood order has followed anarchy. The flag has been planted there to guard life and liberty. It will not be hauled down, but on the day when the Cuban constitutional congress shall convene, the armies of this nation will march down to the embarkation, followed by a grateful people. And when the flag is carried aboard the ships it will not be a flag hauled down in defeat, disgrace and dishonor, but a flag whose departure will be mourned by a people, which will always be blessed by a land which for the first time knew justice when it found it under its folds."

"But the mighty energies of a mighty nation when put in motion must check themselves. So it is that the army that started to Cuba has ended in the royal palace at Pekin. It was planted in the Philippines, which by treaty rights are ours, for a provision of the constitution is that a treaty once made becomes the supreme law of the land. We therefore must keep the Philippines. If President McKinley were to turn over the government to Mr. Aguinaldo and withdraw from the islands he would be open to impeachment. Mr. Bryan when he promises to turn the Philippines over to the Tagals promises to do a thing he can not do. But the Philippine question will soon be solved. When the votes are counted and the news travels across the seas to Aguinaldo that his ally Bryan has been as hopelessly beaten as Williams was when Hamilton snowed them under 12 to 0, the bandits will give up; order will be established; railroads will be built and an era of industrial activity and progress will begin. The Philippines will be a market for American products. They will be a station on the industrial road to China, a road thrown open to Americans by the matchless diplomacy of John M. Hay. Under the Stars and Stripes they will flourish in happiness, a colony of well governed, happy people, a market for American products for years to come." (Applause.)

Dr. Depew was followed to the train by the students and given the college yell, and he appeared upon the rear platform of the train and spoke briefly, telling in his happy manner a pleasing story.

Hon. Seward Simons, a Buffalo lawyer, was introduced by Dr. Depew. He told some stories and made some political points. The college yell for Depew, Simons, McKinley, Roosevelt and Sherman followed the train as it drew out of the yard.

Senator Depew and party were accompanied to Utica by L. M. Martin and H. W. Roberts.

About fifty members of the McKinley and Roosevelt Club went to Waterville on Wednesday evening and participated in the demonstration held in that village.

SPEAKER HENDERSON IN CLINTON.

An enthusiastic Republican rally was held in Scollard Opera House on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Sherman and Calder Club of Hamilton College. A parade was made around the park by the cadets and the two local clubs headed by the Oriskany Falls band. A reception committee consisting of E. J. Spah, of the college, E. F. Torrey, jr., and H. E. Allen went to Utica and accompanied Hon. David B. Henderson, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and party to this village. The special train with the party arrived from Utica soon after seven and the speaking at the opera house began about eight. J. W. VanAllen, of the college, called the meeting to order and nominated Prof. H. C. White as chairman, who, in accepting the chair, made a stirring speech. He then introduced Speaker Henderson, who spoke of his enlisting a company of 104 men in the civil war and when the war was over but 38 were mustered out. Continuing, he said in brief:

The experience of years has taught me that the young man who dies for principle is older and does more for his country and for mankind than the copperhead who lives to be 100. He took as his text, "Why?" To commerce with why should not James S. Sherman be elected again from this district, which he has served so well, and faithfully. I have been with him on many occasions when you have not and I have never found him to fail in performing his duty, as it seems best to him as serving his party and district. The second why is, why should Bryan be elected? I give it up. I know him well, as we served in Congress together, and yet I do not find myself able to give one reason why he should be elected. Is it because he is a free trader? His doctrines threw three thousand men out of employment not so many years ago. We do not want to be selfish, but we must look out for ourselves. Those responsible for prosperity must keep the people at work and pay them in honest money. Free trade lets others in and brings disaster upon us, but McKinley with his allies will prevent this. Why should I vote for Bryan? Because he tried to establish the coinage of silver in a ratio of 16 to 1. He said that by doing that we would have blessings and money in plenty, but by adopting the gold standard there would be suffering and hardship; clothing, food, and the necessities of life would be dearer and money would be dearer. Just the same the Republican party fixed the gold standard and money can be obtained today at a lower rate than for years, and is more plentiful. Should I vote for Bryan because he stands as the representative of a party, made up of many men of a dangerous element? Should I vote for a man, who would pull down the American flag in some of the islands of the Pacific, when I can vote for a man, who in private and public life has a reputation without a blemish? Bryan is insulting the American people by saying that the Republican party is trying to make a military government. The Republican party tried to strike a blow at the trusts and harmful monopolies. When we want to amend the constitution, we will do so in the interests of the American people, and not as our political rivals would have you think.

At the close of his speech, the college men gave their yell with a will, and then chairman White proceeded a cheer for Speaker Henderson, which was given.

Speeches were also made by Hon. D. E. Ainsworth and Hon. James S. Sherman. Mr. Henderson left immediately after speaking for Utica, and was accompanied by the committee to the city.

The vice-presidents of the meeting were: J. W. VanAllen, E. E. Stowell, H. Mintz, J. E. Johnson, A. S. Hatch, F. W. Sippell, C. S. Signor, W. J. McLaughlin, D. W. Kenwood, H. E. Allen, L. M. Martin, H. W. Roberts, E. F. Torrey, S. W. Raymond, Prof. D. DeW. Smyth, Dr. F. H. Peck.

DEMOCRATIC RALLY.

The first Democratic rally of the campaign, which is fast drawing to a close, was held in Scollard Opera House on Tuesday evening. There was no attempt at a demonstration but there was a large audience present and the meeting was an enthusiastic one. There was standing room only and men did not alone attend the meeting as there were a number of ladies present. Among the number who occupied seats on the stage were the following: H. W. Mahan, C. E. Watson, E. D. Mills, P. A. Skelly, Peter McCabe, W. G. Pickart and D. E. Powers.

James L. Dempsey introduced as chairman, E. P. Powell, who in accepting the chair, made a stirring speech and reiterated some of the causes which led to his coming out for Bryan. The other speakers were W. J. Powers and D. E. Searle, of Rome, and T. Harvey Ferris, of Utica. All of the gentlemen are able and forcible speakers and presented the issues of the campaign in a clear and concise manner.

Round Oak Heaters Are Leaders.

Will you need a new heater this year?

It will pay you to see this stove we mention.

People are telling us every day what a good stove they are; you can just as well have the Best as any other kind.

Let us show you the Round Oak

H. J. Allen, Clinton.

We put this here.

Because you will see it.

This is an invitation to look at our full line of DRESS SHIRTS.

The Paris,.....at.....$1.00
The Monarch,.....at.....1.50
Also Earle & Wilson Make.

We will be glad to have you look them over, because the 'looker of to-day, is to-morrow's buyer.

Robbins & Paddon
Furnishers to Men.

GENESEE ST., UTICA.

Don't GET LEFT

And you will not, if you step into my store when you need

Choice Groceries.

H. W. ROBERTS.

Pipes.

I have just received a large assortment of new pipes. All styles and patterns. Prices are right. If interested call and examine them. Come in anyway, and look them over, even if you don't need a pipe.

Oysters Fresh from the Shell.

T. Moran.

