family reunion on Monday, July 5, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Law.
For a time it was feared that the heavy rain of early morning might interfere with the festivities of the day, but in spite of clouds which soon gave place to sunshine a company numbering about 60, including besides members of the Law family, a number of friends and neighbors, gathered in the maple woods east of the house, where tables for the dinner had been set. Greetings and reminiscences occupied the hour until the committee announced that dinner was served.
After dinner there was a ball game enjoyed by players and spectators.
At 4 o'clock the company adjourned to the house where an organization to be effected. The meeting having been adjourned, Mrs. Oscar Law was chosen chairman. The following

CONVENTION IN GREENWAY

Verona Town S. S. Association Meets
There For First Time in 21 Years —Personals.

Greenway, July 8.—The Verona Town Sunday School Association held its 24th annual convention in the school house here on Tuesday. There was a large attendance, especially in the afternoon. The enthusiasm of the speakers and the inspiring songs awakened a deeper interest in Sunday school work and workers. It has been 21 years since a convention was held here. Most of the workers who carried the responsibilities of those days have gone to their reward and changes have been made, but through all these years services have been maintained here. The school house has been better fitted and equipped for such gatherings, and those in charge did all they could to have ev-the good work.

LETTERS SENT FROM
THE FIRING LINE

The explosions were enough to drive one crazy and to add to the confusion, our engineers exploded a mine deep beneath the enemy's lines. Although I'm afraid they had left the trench by then, still the effect was terrible. The ground shook for a mile around and a huge column of earth was thrown into the air for about 200 feet. Our men then attacked and the Germans opened up a terrific machine gun and rifle fire. Even we stretcher bearers carrying the wounded away behind the trenches were more than our usual share. My how those bullets flew around my chum and myself as we carried those men! It was the hottest by far I have been in and if we get many more times like it, I guess my chances of coming through the war safe are very poor. One of my friends has been wounded this trip.

Several post cards were enclosed in the letter, which the writer spoke of purchasing in a village close to the firing line. The people are still living there despite the fact that the Germans are coming shells into it occasionally. One of the cards was inscribed "Lo Cross des Allies" and bore a cross composed of the flags of Belgium, England, France, Russia and Italy. The other cards showed scenes in the war zone.

The letter concludes with the writer saying that he wished the war was over, saying: "I have had my fill. It is just scientific slaughter. How thankful some of the fellows are to get a wound that will keep them out of it a while. The brave lads bear their agonies uncomplainingly, though many of them are terribly mutilated.
The Germans are more cick of it than we are and many of them are glad to be made prisoners. Still we are determined to keep right at it until we have the tyrant to his knees."

In a letter from Mr. Owen, which was written on April-12, he gives an account of the use of the poison gas by the Germans. The letter says: "I reckon by the time this letter reaches you, you will have read of the big engagement the Canadians took such an effective part in. I am glad to say that I came through the ordeal without a scratch, though it is wonderful considering the awful time we had for three days and nights. The boys certainly did fine but the casualties were heavy. I guess the Germans fared much worse, as they had many more troops than we had, and our lads went for them like madmen, with the bayonet. It was just murder at the part where I was, for the enemy were entrenched on the top of a ridge, and the trenches were lined with machine guns, and though these created an awful slaughter, the men kept right at it until they drove the enemy from them.

"The Germans are using dastardly and wicked methods. They are using a terrible poison gas which they blow into the British trenches and it has a terrible effect on the men. They suffer fearful agonies from gradual choking and blindness. It is then when the enemy make their charges.
They also bayonet our wounded and shoot down the stretcher bearers as they are collecting the wounded. They are absolutely unscrupulous. They first used the gas in their violent but unsuccessful attempt to break through to Calais, and prior to doing so they accused the British of using it. I was fifty or to attempt to, their own use of it. That is an absolute lie, for we have not used it, not even in retaliation, though some are advocating it, but so far we have not done so but the men have been supplied with respirators.

"The Canadians are now back from East Indian Proverbs.

An old English proverb, "Cut your lowing is a similar proverb in India:

"Look at your bed before stretching your legs on it." "Don't ask for sauce

Indian proverb, which is something like the English proverb, "Beggars
