It's time to clamp down on loose talk!

This Actual Case shows how Rumors delay Vital Work

The Rumor was: In one war plant (located in the Hartford) many workers were being killed—the number of injuries was frightful.

The facts were: Not one worker had been killed. There were some injuries—but not more than usual in this type of work. But baseless rumors—spreading like wildfire—were making it hard to hire needed men, were lowering morale and were slowing up vital production.

Carelessness in spreading rumors is as dangerous as carelessness on the job, at home or driving cars. Every accident or fire means loss of time, material, manpower that we can't afford to lose.

Be careful—always. Make others be careful. You'll be helping to win the war.

Get expert advice: We can help you to prevent accidents and fires. We can also build a sound insurance program to protect you or your business against serious financial loss.
